Creative Arts Forum

Dr. John Bean of the English department provided a new dimension to the cultural development of the student body this year with the addition of the Creative Arts Forum. These forums, held once each semester, were filled with dramatic readings, musical performances, dance interpretations and art displays. Through this program, the student body was able to fill the need for the appreciation of the liberal arts curriculum.

Interim '74

Interim at the College of Great Falls is an exciting experience. Students are given the opportunity to explore special areas of study in a concentrated one month program.

Two of the more unusual programs this year were a Winter Survival class by Conner Shepherd and Kindergarten methods (right) by Sr. Rose Angela.

Perhaps what we need most for a truly effective evaluation is understanding. Understanding that grows from the idea that we are all a part of the learning process, not as just teachers or just students, but as people who share through the concept of education.

This year's evaluation was only a beginning. Built on the lessons of the past, it was an attempt to reach a better understanding through communication. 1603 evaluation forms were returned from 152 classes; comparisons were made; means were compiled and feedback was given.

Yet, more important than all this data, was the dialogue that the evaluation created. Between many of us, opinions were shared, criticism was voiced and fear was reduced.

It has been our way of saying to students of the past that we believed in what you tried to do and it is our challenge to those students of the future to improve on what we have done.

Bill Taylor, APC Commissioner

Students

". . . we need to avoid in evaluation this drastic sense of hierarchy. I try to avoid this when I teach. I'm asking for evaluation from my students as much as they are asking for evaluation from me. . . . I need the counsel of the people in my community of scholars. There is no such thing as 'the lowest learner'."

Student Government

The Student Senate is the representative body of the A.S.C.G.F. It provides a number of different services, from publishing a weekly newspaper, providing recreational and social activities, to representing the Student Body at the Academic Policy Committee.

The membership of the Senate is both elected and appointed, giving a wide and varied range of voice concerning student related topics, so that the wants and needs of the majority of students can be met.

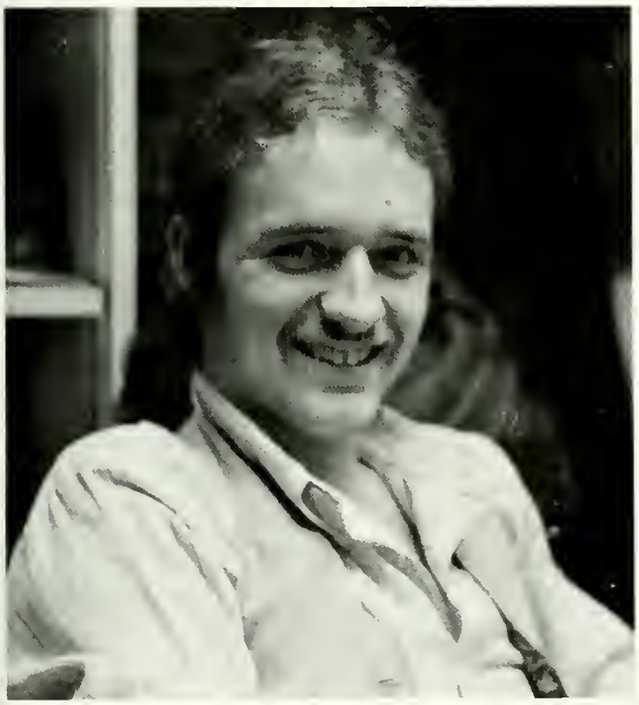
Impact

Vol. XIV, No. 17 Great Falls, Montana March 1, 1974



Though the working staff was quite small, this years editor of the student newspaper, Dan Dyrdahl, was able to provide members of the campus community with an opportunity to voice their opinions on issues of concern and thus CGF students were kept abreast of campus developments in a way that has never before been accomplished. This years new additions included weekly feature articles by Bill Taylor, Anita Wilson, Carrie Hegland, and Theresa DiNevi. Though many members of the student body felt that the views of the IMPACT were a bit radical at times, it was generally agreed that a new dimension had been achieved in campus communications through the efforts of this dedicated staff.

Childsmile

CHILDSMILE came home twice, and each time they received a rousing welcome. Capacity crowds, beer, wine, and good feelings flowed at each of the reunions. Each time as short and it always seemed to be a rush to get back on the road. Thanks CHILDSMILE and good luck.

C.G.F. Spurs

The C.G.F. Spurs bring to a close an eventful year. The donation of time and service to various projects such as the blood drawings, the Cancer drive, visits to the old folks home, and various campus activities were well served. A money making project of putting together 7,000 cookbooks for KEIN Radio netted the club $500.00.

The men's team was led by Doug Harris in the 50, 100, and 200 yd. freestyles, Neil Trosper in the 500 and 1000 yd. freestyles, Phil Coe in the 200 yd. individual medley, and Coe teamed with Russ Diemert in the breaststroke. The depth needed by the team was provided by Walt Meszewicz in the freestyles, Pat Mc Naight in the backstroke and Ron Salafia and Manual Camilon in diving.

The women's team was led by Mary Gen Hagen in the freestyle events, Becky Miller in the Butterfly and individual medley and Bev Brietbach in the backstroke. Colleen Sullivan, Margo Baily, Eileen Switzer, Ginny Mayernik and Julie Stewart all contributed to a winning season.

Five women travelled to the Northeast Regionals in Moscow, Idaho. CGF came in 7th out of fifteen teams. Representing the team were Becky Miller, Mary Gen Hagen, Eileen Switzer, Margo Baily and Bev Brietbach.

Cathy Cullum, in her second season as a coach has molded her team out of her swim classes. She had three women, Mary Gen Hagen, Becky Miller and Margo Baily, who had never swum competitively before. For the men, high school All American, Doug Harris and Ron Salafia were the experienced competitors.

C.G.F. is proud of our swim team and it's fine coach. Congratulations Cathy Cullum on a good season and Cattie Joy.

TRACK

It is only through the development of a sound physical body that the ultimate in intellectual persuits can be achieved. Though only in the beginning states of its development, the track program at the College of Great Falls, under the direction of Mr. Roman Horejsi, continues to be another ray of hope in the ever expanding athletic curriculum. The shining stars of this years team were Nancy Royan and Virginia Dahindan, both of whom should provide the necessary depth to next years team.
